Timeline of Requirements for M.A.R./M.Div. Theses

A project or thesis is an option in the second year of the concentrated and comprehensive M.A.R. programs, and in the third year of the M.Div. program. The process unfolds as follows:

1. Find, on your own initiative, a first and second reader appropriate to the topic and willing and able to participate. The readers will ordinarily be Yale faculty members. With permission of the Senior Associate Dean for Academic Affairs the first reader can be a part-time or visiting Yale faculty member, and the second reader may be external to Yale.
2. Submit a completed M.A.R./M.Div. Thesis Proposal no later than the end of the first week of the term in which the thesis or project will be initiated. Students are encouraged to submit the Thesis Proposal Form at the end of the semester prior to the term in which they hope to begin the project.

Please note that this requires 1) a one-page proposal describing the thesis or project, 2) the signatures of a first reader, second reader, and the academic adviser, 3) a statement of support from the first reader, 4) specification of what must be handed in as evidence of progress by the Monday of week 5 (see below). If the first reader is not a full-time member of the Divinity faculty, a second statement of support is required from a full-time member of the Divinity faculty. The academic adviser may serve as either first or second reader, but does not always do so.

The Senior Associate Dean for Academic Affairs reviews the application, consults the student's transcript to make sure that there are no problems (e.g., low grades, incompletes, etc.), and if there are solid grounds for confidence in the student's ability to complete the work successfully, authorizes the thesis or project. Students who have not obtained approval prior to the start of the term in which the project will be initiated are advised to register for another class in the event that the thesis/project proposal is not approved.

In concentrated programs the academic adviser will determine area credit. A thesis or project written for the comprehensive program and for the M.Div. program is eligible for elective credit only.

3. Register for REL 3899 M.A.R./REL 3799 M.Div. Thesis or Project, either for one term or two.
4. By the Monday of the 5th week of classes in which the thesis/project is begun, submit to the first reader the agreed-upon evidence of progress (e.g., outline, draft, annotated bibliography, specified # of pages, etc.). If the first reader is not able to confirm substantial progress and a solid expectation that the student can be expected to submit satisfactory work by the end of the term, the first reader must indicate this by submitting an Academic Caution Notice to the student, academic dean, and registrar. A student who receives an Academic Caution Notice may drop the course or petition to convert REL 3899 M.A.R./REL 3799 M.Div. Thesis or Project to a Reading Course. This petition requires support of the first reader and is made by written request to the Professional Studies Committee.
5. Normally, a full draft is due to the first reader some weeks prior to final submission, as agreed upon by both parties.
6. The thesis is due on the final day of the semester as noted on the academic calendar. First and second readers will confer on the grade prior to grade submission by the first reader.

Specifications for length and printing: double-spaced, footnotes at the bottom of each page, pages numbered, sources at the end, following a recognized citation style manual as agreed upon together with the first reader (e.g., The Chicago Manual of Style; MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers; SBL Handbook of Style for Biblical Studies and Related Disciplines). Printing may be single-sided or duplex, as the first reader prefers (STM theses are archived and thus must be printed single-sided). The length of manuscripts for the thesis or project will vary depending on the subject matter, but a one-term thesis or project is typically 30-50 pages long; a two-term thesis or project, typically 60-100.
